

From: Jerry Daniel
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 11/19/01 10:24am
Subject: anti-trust

I don't feel that this settlement addresses the issue that brought microsoft to this point; bundling software with is Os. How can companies compete with this practice? I feel that the Os should be a completely separate entity entirely. Also this settlement seems to make microsoft responsible for policing itself which they have not made an attempt at so far. I'm sure that microsoft's executives are laughing that they have won and can do whatever they want from now on. I think that the justice department failed to do it job in this case.

--

=====
Jerry Daniel
Computer Services Specialist III
Department of Romance Languages
University of Georgia

706-542-0475
706-542-3287 fax
ejdaniel@uga.edu
www.rom.uga.edu
=====